Richards Double Action Duckbill Rongeur

Rongeur is a multi-functional surgical instrument designed explicitly for orthopedic surgeries. This instrument is double-acted, which enables the jaws to stay in orientation. The working end is also mildly shaped like a scoop that allows the instrument a distinctive way to cut and realign the bone. This profile ensures the maximum grip of the user on the bone which is being operated.

Nowadays, orthopedists use a variety of types and sizes according to their surgical preferences.
