Completely Functional

The Neumann TLM 103, introduced in 1997, is a modern update of the iconic U87, renowned for its high sensitivity and low noise floor, making it ideal for capturing vocals and instruments with pristine clarity. Its cardioid polar pattern ensures excellent off-axis rejection, perfect for studio recordings in any genre. This microphone is suitable for use on music recording sets, radio studios, and film production sets requiring high-quality audio capture.
