Functional

The Fuji Birdie Slide Projector, produced in the 1950s by Fuji Photo Film Co. Ltd., is a compact device designed for 35mm slide presentations. Housed in a durable carrying case, it includes slide and film holders, making it easy to transition between images. Its vintage design and practicality make it ideal for film or television sets depicting mid-20th-century educational settings, family gatherings, or professional presentations, while its functionality adds an extra layer of authenticity to any production.
