Untested

The Olympus Model VX-403-KU VHS Movie Camera, introduced in the late 1980s, features an 8x power zoom with autofocus capabilities. This camera was designed for home video enthusiasts, offering a lightweight and portable solution for recording directly onto VHS tapes. It comes with a sturdy carrying case and various accessories, making it perfect for on-the-go shooting. This model would be ideal for sets depicting late 1980s to early 1990s home video scenes or amateur film productions. Its vintage aesthetic adds authenticity to period-specific productions.
